BRIEF SUMMARY OF LITIGATION INVOLVING
RELATED PATENTS AND APPLICATIONS.

THIS PAPER IS BEING FILED AS AN INFORMATION DISCLOSURE STATEMENT IN ORDER TO COMPLY WITH THE APPLICANT'S DUTY TO DISCLOSE UNDER MPEP § 2001.06.

Commissioner for Patents
P. O. Box 1450
Alexandria, VA 22313-1450

Sir:

This paper is being submitted as part of an Information Disclosure Statement to inform the Office that the parent patents of the aforementioned continuation patent application are currently involved in litigation in the United States District Court for Western District of New York, Buffalo Division, Civil Docket No. 1:30-cv-00276-RJA-VEB. Though the present application is not a reissue application and though the pending claims of the present application are not themselves the subjects of a lawsuit, the instant Information Disclosure Statement is being offered in response to the suggestion contained in MPEP §2001.06 that the existence of litigation and issues raised therein should be brought to the attention of the patent examiner.

The patents currently involved in the New York suit are U.S. Patent Nos. 6,007,889; 6,286,811; 6,451,402; and 6,544,616. Among the opposing party's defenses, the opposing party has asserted that claims 10 and 35 of U.S. Patent No. 6,286,811 and claim 73 of U.S. Patent No. 6,544,616 are invalid over the prior art. And as best as the applicant can presently understand, the opposing party positions are that:

--claim 10 of '811 is allegedly invalid under 35 USC §§ 102 or 103 over the combination of EP 0594516 to Hatwar combined with European Patent Application No. EP 0737966 to Kaneko, U.S. Patent No. 5,640,382 to Florczak, U.S. Patent No. 4,450,553 to Holster, or European Patent Application EP 0720159 to Moriaya;

--claim 35 of '811 is allegedly invalid under 35 USC §§ 102 or 103 over the combination of Japanese Unexamined Patent Application 07-105575 or Japanese Unexamined Patent Application 10-011799 combined with European Patent Application No. EP 0737966 to Kaneko, U.S. Patent No. 5,640,382 to Florczak, U.S. Patent No. 4,450,553 to Holster, or European Patent Application EP 0720159 to Moriaya, and

--claim 73 of '616 is allegedly invalid under 35 USC §§ 102 or 103 over Japanese publication 09-212915 to Miyashita or U.S. Patent No. 4,404,656 to Cornet combined with European Patent Application No. EP 0737966 to Kaneko, U.S. Patent No. 5,640,382 to Florczak, U.S. Patent No. 4,450,553 to Holster, or European Patent Application EP 0720159 to Moriaya.

Copies of all these references have been submitted to the patent examiner.

The opposing party in this lawsuit has also asserted that the Applicant is guilty of inequitable conduct in the above-named litigation. In this regard, the opposing party has:

--alleged that the Applicant had a duty to translate into English, all of the Japanese references the Applicant submitted to the patent office as prior art. (Applicant submitted copies of the readily available, Official English language abstracts of these references.);

--alleged that the Applicant intentionally withheld the English language abstract for Japanese Unexamined Patent Publication 02192046 from the patent office (an English language translation of the entire document was submitted to the patent office the day after it was received from the opposing party);

--alleged that the Applicant intentionally withheld U.S. Patent No. 4,404,656 to Cornet from the patent office (a copy of the reference was submitted to the patent office within days after the omission was discovered), and

--alleged that the Applicant has intentionally not informed the patent office that the above-identified patents were in litigation.

Applicant also informs the Office that the district court hearing the suit has recently found in favor of the Applicant on all the foregoing issues. Briefly, the district court did not grant the opposing party's motion to enjoin the patent owner from alerting the opposing party's customer base that at least some of the products offered for sale by the opposing party may be infringing the Applicant's issued patents and pending patent applications. See Decision and Order 03-CV-276-A and 03-CV-280 (enclosed).

The opposing party cited specific pieces of related art, for example, those recited above to argue that the Patents in litigation should be held invalid in view of the related art. Some of these pieces of related art are not of record in the patents being litigated. To the best of the Applicant's knowledge, all of these pieces of related art have already been disclosed or are being disclosed in this filing to the Office.

In response to the Opposition's allegation that the Applicant's patents and pending Applications in litigation were obvious over these and other references the Court held that:

"In Sum, upon considering the differences between Target's [Applicant's] patent claims and the prior art, the Court finds that claims at issue, as a whole, would not have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art." Id. pg. 35-36 (emphasis added).

In response to the Opposition's allegations of Inequitable Conduct leveled against the Applicant (Target Technology) the Court held that:

"Similarly, the Court finds that Williams [Opposition] has failed to show a likelihood of success on its claim of inequitable conduct." Id. pg. 38 "Because evidence of an intent to defraud is lacking, Williams [Opposition] has failed to establish a likelihood of success on its inequitable conduct claim." Id. pg. 41.

Details of that opinion can be found at Williams Advanced Materials, Inc. v. Target Technology Company, LLC, 2004 WL 1811397 (W.D.N.Y. August 11, 2004) (Nos. 03-CV-276-A, 03-CV-280-A)(enclosed). At this time of the decision this case is under appellate review at the Federal Circuit, No. 40-1602.

United States District Court for the District of New Mexico, Civil Docket No. 04-0008 BDB DJS.

The Applicant also wishes to bring to the attention of the Office that the parent patents of the aforementioned continuation patent application are currently involved in litigation in the United States District Court for the District of New Mexico, Civil Docket No. 04-0008 BDB DJS. Though the present application is not a reissue application and though the pending claims of the present application are not themselves the subjects of a lawsuit, the instant Information Disclosure Statement is being offered in response to the suggestion contained in MPEP §2001.06 that the existence of litigation and issues raised therein should be brought to the attention of the patent Examiner.

The patents currently in that litigation are U.S. Patent Nos. 6,007,889; 6,286,811; 6,451,402; and 6,544,616. Among the opposing party's defenses, the opposing party has asserted that claims of these patents are invalid under 35 USC § 102 or 103 over U.S. Patent No. 6,232,036 or that the patents do not meet the requirements of 35 USC § 112. No further details are presently available.

United States District Court for the Central District of California Civil Action Nos. SACV04-1083 DOC (MLGx) and SACV04-1084 CJC (Anx) and United States District Court for the District of New Mexico, Civil Docket No 05-0111 (previously SAC04-1084 (C.D. Cal)).

The Applicant also wishes to bring to the attention of the Office that the parent patents of the aforementioned continuation patent application are currently involved in litigation in the United States District Court for the Central District of California Civil Action Nos. SACV04-1083 DOC (MLGx) and District of New Mexico, Civil Docket No 05-0111. The Applicant avers that the Opposing parties have infringed and are continuing to infringe the claims of the Applicant's United States Patent No. 6790503.

If the Office requires any addition information concerning the aforementioned litigation or any other information relating to the prosecution of the pending application the Applicant respectfully requests that the Office contact the undersigned either telephonically or by mail in the next Official Action with the inquiry.

Should the Office require any additional information concerning the aforementioned litigation or any other information relating to the prosecution of the pending application the Office may at the Office's convenience contact the undersigned either telephonically or by mail in the next Official Action with the inquiry.

Respectfully submitted:
